Privacy Policy

This site does NOT sell or give away your personal information, such as your name or e-mail address, that you provide in order to leave a comment on a post or sign up for our weekly newsletter. If you sign up for our newsletter, we will use your name and e-mail address only to send the newsletter to you through our newsletter service. You can unsubscribe to the newsletter at any time. If you comment on a post, we do NOT use the personal information you submit to send you anything and we do NOT sell or give away that information.

On occasion, we may also send out an email sharing with you information about companies we support. These emails may include advertising, promotions, sales, or freebies. We will only send such emails when we believe the information included with benefit you in a tangible way.

Confidentiality and Giveaways

Nothing you submit by posting a comment on an article or sending an e-mail to blog owner, is confidential or will be considered confidential by the CHEK website or its owner. The same applies to your comments on any of the Christian Home Educators of Kentucky social media properties.

Must be a Kentucky resident, and must be 18 years old or older to enter and be awarded any giveaway.
